At 9:00 a.m. County Clerk Aulik introduced the Board of Canvass and Tabulators, and read the rules for observers.

At 9:05 the recount of the City of Kiel, Wards 1-6 began. The following discrepancies and other events are detailed below:

- A. City of Kiel election officials were made aware that they needed to bring a bin for their AccuVote system as they were the only poll location that used one in the county. The City Administrator was called to bring the bin for the tabulator.
- B. On two absentee ballot certificates, it was noted by the board that written on the outside of 2 absentee ballot certificates, a husband put his ballot in his wife's envelope and the wife put her ballot in the husband's absentee certificate. The certificates were accepted unanimously by the board.
- C. One absentee ballot certificate omitted the date of election and "Manitowoc" from the county section of the certificate. The certificate was unanimously accepted by the board.
- D. The board was made aware by City of Kiel election officials that there were three ballots of Calumet County voters included in the TSX ballot roll. All Kiel ballots on the TSX roll were cut into separate ballots, the three ballots for Calumet County voters were set aside and sealed in an envelope with the board's signatures over the seal of the envelope. They were given to City of Kiel election officials for the Calumet County recount.

- E. One poll location ballot had one set of initials. Because the board could determine that the ballot was initialed by an election inspector that worked at the poll, they unanimously accepted the ballot.
- F. Marilyn Jaschob tried twice to test the AccuVote system, with it locking up on both occasions. At 10:55 a.m. technical support for the AccuVote system was called, and it was determined that a memory card that was only compatible with an updated version of the AccuVote system was being used on the City of Kiel's older system and that they were not compatible. The vendor recommended that they obtain a newer AccuVote system in order to have a properly functioning tabulator.
- G. Unanimously, the board okayed the suspension of Kiel's recount in order for Kiel election officials to go to New Holstein to obtain a newer tabulator that would be compatible with the memory card that was coded with the election.

The board recessed for lunch at 11:25 a.m.

At 12:04 p.m. the recount of the Town of Maple Grove began. No discrepancies were found.

- A. One ballot box did not have the district and wards listed on the certificate, nor the seal number. The seal number should be: 0302631
- B. Voter #1 appeared in one poll book but not the other. It was determined that voter #1 voted, but was omitted.
- C. 1 poll location ballot had the initials of one election inspector. It was unanimously accepted by the board due to the fact that they could reconcile the initials with an election inspector who worked on Election Day.
- D. Voter #172 was a newly registered in-person absentee voter. Nothing in the poll book's supplemental list indicated that the individual was an absentee voter.
- E. Joan Holt was also a newly registered in-person absentee voter. Nothing in the poll book's supplemental list indicated that she was an absentee voter.

- B. Andrew Paider was an absentee voter who was not marked as voting in either poll book. Voter #805 was marked on the absentee certificate envelope, but it was found that #805 was assigned to another absentee voter. The result was that there were actually 1,290 voters in this district not 1,289 as previously stated.
- C. One absentee ballot was filled in for Joanne Kloppenburg and David Prosser, and then over their names it was written in “yes” for David Prosser and “no” for Joanne Kloppenburg. The board unanimously determined the voter intent to be for David Prosser. The ballot is Exhibit #14.

Also present at various times throughout the day:

Elizabeth Swadner, Mary Liz Towne – Kloppenburg Campaign, Jennie Andreasen – Kloppenburg Campaign, Caroline Sonnenburg – Town of Manitowoc, Susan Kornely – Town of Cooperstown, Joanne Zipperer – Kloppenburg Campaign, Jim Zipperer – Kloppenburg Campaign, Grace M. At 8:00 a.m. the recount of the Town of Cooperstown Wards 1,2 began. The following discrepancies are noted below:

- A. In the defective ballot envelope, a blank ballot for the office of Justice of the Supreme Court was found with no other disqualifying features. The board unanimously voted to include it with the pool of regular ballots.

Sue Kornely, Clerk for the Town of Cooperstown successfully tested the M-100 tabulator. The memory card used was: PC009114

Also noted were 8 ballots were set aside due to the questionable markings in the ovals. The board unanimously determined the voter intent of the ballots, and 2 were votes for Kloppenburg and 6 were votes for Prosser. They are Exhibit #15. There were also 18 blank ballots. They are Exhibit #16.

The board also had to reopen an already recounted and sealed ballot bag because they failed to include emailed ballots into the ballot bag. The old seal number was 169741, and the new seal number was 169742.

At 9:25 a.m. the recount of the Town of Meeme Wards 1,2 began. The following discrepancies are noted below:

- A. On the Inspector Statements, the AutoMARK serial number is listed where the ballot bag serial number should be, and vice versa.
- B. For 12 absentee voters, the ABS or Absentee indicator next to their names was omitted in both poll books.
- C. Total voters accounted for in poll book was 404, 403 ballots were accounted for. Because the number of voters exceeded the number of ballots, the board continued the recount.
- D. 7 absentee ballot certificates that were originally accepted at the poll location were unanimously rejected by the board because the voters did not sign the certificate. From the pool of 12 absentee ballots, the board randomly drew down 7 ballots. Exhibit 17a is the rejected absentee ballots and Exhibit 17b is the rejected absentee envelopes.
- E. 1 poll location ballot had the initials of one election inspector. It was unanimously accepted by the board due to the fact that they could reconcile the initials with an election inspector who worked on Election Day.

At 10:25 a.m. the recount of the Town of Schleswig Wards 1,2,3 began. The following discrepancies are noted below:

- A. 688 voters were listed in the poll book but 689 ballots were found. The clerk and the inspector's statement noted that an unregistered voter was accidentally allowed to vote (long story, recounted in gory detail in the inspector's statement). Also, a ballot was not drawn down on Election Night. In consultation with the Election Recount Manual, the board unanimously decided to draw down a blank ballot, thereby making the ballot and voter count equal. The blank ballot is Exhibit 20.
- B. One ballot had no initials and the board could not discern its origin. It had folds as if it was an absentee ballot. The board unanimously voted to reject the ballot on the basis that they did not know where it came from coupled with the fact that it didn't have any initials. There was an objection by the Kloppenburg Campaign to the ballot being rejected, but the board was still unanimous on the ballot being rejected. The ballot is Exhibit 18.

- C. 2 absentee ballot certificates that were originally accepted at the poll location were unanimously rejected by the board because the voters did not sign the certificate. From the pool of 21 absentee ballots, the board randomly drew down 2 ballots. Exhibit 19a is the rejected absentee ballots and Exhibit 19b is the rejected absentee envelopes.
- D. 1 poll location ballot had the initials of one election inspector. It was unanimously accepted by the board due to the fact that they could reconcile the initials with an election inspector who worked on Election Day.

- A. A paper ballot was unanimously rejected by the board because there were no initials of election inspectors and the origin of the ballot could not be discerned. The Prosser Campaign raised an objection on the grounds that the ballot should still be counted. The board was still unanimous on rejecting the paper ballot. The ballot is Exhibit #21.

Day 5 – Monday, May 2nd:

The Board of Canvassers and staff reconvened at 8:00 a.m. to conduct the recount of the election returns from the April 5, 2011 Spring Election for the office of Justice of the Supreme Court.

Also present at various times throughout the day:

Pat Kohlman – Prosser Campaign, Catherine V. Shallue – Prosser Campaign, Joanne Zipperer – Kloppenburg Campaign, Jim Zipperer – Kloppenburg Campaign, Kay Puls – City of Two Rivers, Mary Muench – Town of Cato, Linda Ebert, Kay Mueller – Village of St. Nazianz, Judy Waier – Town of Two Rivers, Connie Messman, and Linda Ebert.

At 8:00 a.m. the recount of the Town of Cato Wards 1,2 began. The following discrepancies are noted below:

- A. Voter #85 was listed in one poll book but not the other. It was determined that voter #85 did in fact vote, and the number was omitted from one of the poll books.
- B. The poll book tabulators counted 3 more voters than voter slips issued. Upon a number by number reconciliation, it was found that voter #9 and voter #276 were duplicate numbers. Voter slips for #243 and #272 were not issued to any voter. Consequently, was determined that there were 456 voters in the poll book.
- C. 456 voters were listed in the poll book, and 449 ballots were accounted for. Because the number of voters exceeded the number of ballots, the board decided to proceed with the recount.

Town Clerk Mary Muench successfully tested the M-100. The memory card serial number is: PC009163.

It was also noted that 7 ballots were set aside and hand counted by the board due to questionable markings in the ovals which could lead to the tabulator incorrectly tallying votes. The ballots were marked as Exhibit #22.

At 10:15 a.m. the recount of the Town of Two Rivers began. There were no discrepancies.

As a note, the recount poll book tabulators mistakenly double counted a voter. The voter was mistakenly counted in both the C's and the F's of the poll book. The voter had changed their name, and there was a notation in the C's, but no voter number given, and the voter was listed in the supplemental section of the F's and assigned a voter number. Town Clerk Judy Waier made County Clerk Jamie Aulik aware of the error and it has since been fixed.
